Four 2018 Music Programs Named

The Cedarville Museum's Summer 2018 entertainment schedule of four live music programs is complete. The list offers a wide variety of music and styles.

As in the past, all programs will be on a Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the Cedarville Museum.

Leading off on May 8 will be the five member group Gone Fish'n with their renditions of bluegrass gospel music. The members are Brian and Sharon Lieb of Loran, Mary Jean Hammer, Apple River, and Terry O'Malley and Mary Berryhill, Stockton.

Both Brian and Terry play multiple instruments including the banjo and guitar. The women are known for their tight harmonies.

On June 5 Ted Stavrou, a faculty member at the Music Academy in Rockford, will present a guitar concert.

Stavrou, who teaches guitar and mandolin, has a masters degree in guitar performance from Northern Illinois University. While primarily classically trained, he moves easily between jazz and classical guitar.

On July 10 the audience will welcome back two favorites, accordionists Bobbie Edler of Cedarville and John Waelti. Both can be heard regularly at the Rathskeller in Turner Hall, Monroe, Wi.

Waelti, raised on a dairy farm near Monroe, started playing the accordion when he was five and has a long list of credits.

Bobbie, a graduate of the University of Northern Iowa, has been entertaining since she was 10. She is a member of the Chicago Accordion Club where she is recognized for her innovative style of accordion playing.

The music season closes August 7 with the appearance of the Caswell String Quartet, four sisters Laura, Annaliesa, Hannah and Ella Caswell, ages 16 through 22. Ella teaches at the Rockford Music Academy. The other three are students there. They have made appearances at weddings and formal dinners.

The programs are held in the museum's second floor meeting room. There is a one button elevator for physically handicapped visitors.

As usual, free refreshments are served after every performance.

A ticket order form is on page 2 of this newsletter. A ticket good for all performances is $36. Individual tickets are $10. All tickets are transferable to other persons in the event the purchaser cannot attend a program. For more information call Jim Bade at 815-563-4485.

History Class Sign Up Open Until March 12

Registration ends Mar 12 for the four history classes that will explore in depth the story that goes with many of the Adams family artifacts recently acquired by the Cedarville Museum. The classes are sponsored by CAHS and Highland Community College.

The classes will be on March 13 and 27 and April 10 and 24 in the museum. The cost is $50 for the class and text. A registration form is on pages 4 and 5 of this newsletter.

The classes meet at 7:30 p.m. and last one hour. They will be team taught by Andy Dvorak, Highland history instructor, and Jim Bade, president of CAHS.

The exterior of the early 1880 house of Cedarville's Dr. Smith Thompson on the northwest corner of Mill and Oak streets has been restored and the 2300 square foot interior updated to today's standards. The owner-contractor has put a price of $156,000 on the three or four bedroom, one and a half bathroom residence.
