

Cedarville Museum Art Gallery

The museum's second floor LeRoy Wilson Theater and art gallery features four 48 by 68 inch acrylic murals created by Cedarville area artists Harlan Corrie, Dan Edler, Roger Goodspeed and Duane Smith. These permanent gallery additions portray Cedarville topically rather than chronologically. In addition the gallery contains 18 smaller original paintings belonging to the museum that are related to the area. A booklet of the collection is available to museum visitors for two dollars.

Rosabelle Cronau Research Center

Historical society members and the public can visit and use the Rosabelle Cronau Research Center on the museum’s second floor. Mrs. Cronau, who died on December 26, 2006, was a strong supporter of the historical society. Her family paid for the room’s construction.

The research center is the home of the historical society’s collection of letters, photographs, documents, books and electronically recorded material related to the history of the Cedarville area. The material in the center is available to local history researchers and the public. Although original material will not be permitted to leave the center, copies — either printed or recorded — are available.

Included in the book collection are dozens of books written about or by Jane Addams, Cedarville’s most famous citizen. Many of the books by Miss Addams pre-date World War I. The center also has a collection of Stephenson County histories and original Buckeye Township records. The electronic photograph file has hundreds of pictures of Cedarville residents dating back to the Civil War.

The books and other records are stored on shelves and cabinets contributed by Winifred Macomber in memory of her late husband Vernon, a Lena teacher.
