Society 2016 Event Schedule Complete

For the first time in its history, the Cedarville Area Historical Society will start its activities in the middle of spring rather than waiting for the traditional beginning of May.

On March 15, 29, April 12 and April 26 the society in partnership with Highland Community College will conduct four hour-long Cedarville history classes at 7:30 p.m. in the museum. An application form for the classes, open to society members and the public, is on page 4 and 5 of this newsletter.

Saturday, May 1: The museum opens weekends from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. for the six month season.

Tuesday, May 24: Casey Brothers performs popular Irish and Scottish folk songs at the museum. 7:30 p.m.

Monday, May 30: Memorial Day parade starting at 10 a.m. on Mill Street in front of the telephone building and continuing to the Cedarville Cemetery. Historical society 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. picnic lunch at museum following cemetery ceremony.

Tuesday, June 21: Five member Styles Junction band at the museum with toe-tapping bluegrass music. 7:30 p.m.

Tuesday, July 19: The male quartette Generations at the museum. 7:30 p.m.

Tuesday, August 16: String quartette at the museum lead by Brandon Lamm, director of the Freeport High School Orchestra. 7:30 p.m.

Saturday, September 24: Celebration of Jane Addams 156th birthday. Morning 5K run/walk on Jane Addams Trail.

Saturday, October 30: Museum closes at 4:00 p.m. for the season.

Tuesday, December 13: Christmas party at the museum. Sing-along, food, entertainment. Free to all. Social hour starts at 6:00 p.m.

All Tuesday evening events are in the second floor LeRoy Wilson Theater. This room is climate controlled. Free refreshments are served by members of the historical society after each event. A one button elevator to the second floor is available for physically handicapped museum visitors.

A $30 ticket covers all four evening music programs. $8 for a single ticket. All music tickets are transferable from one person to another without penalty. A ticket order form for music program tickets is on page 7 of this newsletter.

For additional information about the schedule, call Jim Bade at 815-563-4485 or e-mail bonnielbade@comcast.net.

A brochure with this schedule is included in the March newsletter that is mailed to society members. Others can print the brochure from the society’s website. Copies are also available at the Cedarville post office and other locations in the Cedarville area. Cedarville history class registration deadline is March 8.

The Tax Man Commeth Even in 1858

By Jim Bade
President, CMHS

Hidden among other publications on the “oversize book” shelf in the museum research library, I discovered a gem — the 1858 Buckeye township personal property assessment book. How and when the historical society acquired the book, I do not know. Certainly before my 15 year tenure as president began.

On its pages of fading but readable hand written entries are the names of 435 alphabetically arranged township taxpayers — most of the then presumably the heads of households — and the personal property they are being taxed for and how much they paid that year into their individual road and school districts.

The book tells a lot about the makeup of Buckeye that year as recorded by Assessor Paul W. Rockey.

For example: In the township there were 676 horses with an assessed value (not market value) of $25,361. That’s an average $37.52 per animal. State Sen John Addams, the father of Jane Addams, had the most — 12 assessed at $400. By comparison, the horse population in Buckeye in 1871 was estimated at 800, about a half a horse for each of the 1,761 persons then living in the township.

Other livestock taxed in 1858: There were 1,992 cattle with an assessed value of $14,343 or $7.20 per head. Interestingly, the column listing the number of cattle was labeled “NEAT CATTLE.” I took this to be a typographical error, meaning that milk cows were excluded as taxable property. Maybe one of our farm members has a different reading of this. Anyway, In 1871 it was estimated there were 2,033 cattle in Buckeye. If this is an accurate figure, not much of an increase. And did it include only beefers.

Mules were rarely creatures in 1858. There were only three, all belonging to John Bright Clingman, brother of my wife’s great great grandfather. There assessed value was $20 each, only slightly less than that of a horse. By 1871 the population of this four footer had grown to an estimated 13.

To complete the 1858 stock list, there were 648 sheep and 110 hogs, each assessed at $1. By 1871 the estimated number of sheep was 1,553, hogs 3,465.

The number of dogs in the township was not counted in 1858, but in 1871 it was estimated at 210. How do you estimate the number of dogs roaming a township?

Other items that were assessed in 1858 included carriages and wagons (321 with a tax value of $8,373), watches and clocks (320 with a value of $2.06 each) and financial instruments. One particular column struck me: “PIANOS.” There were none recorded in Buckeye or maybe they were not taxed.

Total assessed value in 1858: $88,401.

How was the 1858 count made? Did someone go from household to household and count? Or was this an instance of “self reporting” like our income tax?
